Market Quotations From the Leading Business Centers.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—There was nothing in the general situation in the political or the business world to account for the reaction in stocks today. The market was simply overbought, and was subjected to a process of testing, which, whether designed to do so or not, inevitably read just prices to the true hasis of value. Yesterday's leavy profit taking on the part of some of the powerful laterests, who had been buying stocks in the confidence that they would advance in price, led the way naturally to today's movement. It became evident at the opening that the strong support for the leaders had been withdrawn. In the grainers even the outside buying, which has so eagerly absorbed these stocks for some time pust—showed a marked diminition. There were selling orders in the commission houses for outside account, thus showing a large part of the recent public interest has been for speculative public failed to show the aggressive confidence in their

TUCKER IN HAMPTOM

HAMPTON

Brought from Norfolk Last Night.

ARMED WITH

currences.

E.O. Tucker, the Phoebus saloon keeper at whose place the disgraceful scenes which have been witnessed in that town since last Sunlay afternoon, becam, was brought back from Norfolk at 5 o'clock last evening and turned over 10 Sheriff Curtis, Tile saloon keeper was not in a communicative mood. He shoke to a few friends as he walk-read to the steamer to the full accompanied by Officer Diestil, but beyond the exchange of pleasant saturations he had nothing to say. It is known, nowever, that he still vigorously dealest hat he is in any way to blame for the raid made upon his saloon Sunday afternoon. But his statement is most veamently repudiated by men who say that they know that the saloon was spen and that Tucker was serving brinks until the crowd became to large o be handled with safety, when he became the many applicants away.

Shortly before the arrival of Tucker a detail from Firt Monroe arrived for he purpose of compelling any soldiers cound in the town to return to camp. About the same time Major Tuttle, o he Maryland regiment, rode up to the curthouse and introduced himself to be further a first of accept the view that the voluncer, he may be succeed the same time Major Tuttle, or he purpose of compelling any soldiers cound in the town to return to camp. About the same time Major Tuttle, or he had a same time Major Tuttle, or he had a first to accept the view that the voluncer; hey conversed privately for some lines. The major, white extremnly outcomes and polite toward the civil alters, was evidently distinctined at list to accept the view that the voluncers were wholly responsible for the foreversation by asking the sheriff hour a telegram that had a sking the sheriff hour a telegram that had a sking that officie microsystims and suggests requiring that officie futlers and the first of the command and that the elegram stated that nine men had hear rolled themselves in so unfortunate an uffair.

During the afternoon Colonel Lane cocieved a message from the Secretary of War, but the nature of its contents sould only be judged by the fact that the fact that its city and soldiers found on the treets were ordered to return to camp t was reported that a military guard vould be sent to guard the Hampton all, in which Tucker is a prisoner, but he rumor was without foundation. To secure the safety of the prisoner and rovide against disorderly demonstrations in any other direction, whether here or at Phoebus, twenty-five mencing as special constables, were armided with Winchester rifles. This presented with which were that a shortage of 125 Springfield dies had been discovered in the batalies had been discovered in the batalies at the Pines battery. A rumor secure current during the closing lower of the day that the guns had een hidden away for use at night When this report reached the ears of Johnel Lane he at once ordered the attailon to Fort Monroe.

The Maryland volunteers say that mong the deputies that fired to the control of the day that the guns had staillon to Fort Monroe.

blame he should be discharged and if the sheriff is to blame he should be well. A dozen white men of the proper class could have subdued all the soldiers who were in Phoebus that night; and as a word of warning, and not as a threat to the sheriff, let him not put negro policemen on duty in the future to try and arrest or shoot at soldiers, for, as we all know, there is a limit to all thious, and as a general thing the men of the First Maryland are quiet and behave as gentemen should behave. The part the negro took in Monday night's disturbance will not be forgotten by the men of the First Maryland. "We have had so many pleasant times in Hampton that we do not like to see them marred by such disturbances; and another thing that a good many of the people do not know, the soldier was not the aggressor, as the cause of the trouble. Hoping that the editor of the paper will publish to and do the soldier justice. I am. "Yours respectfully." A SOLDIER OF THE FIRST MD." Accompanying the foregoing letter was the following by Mr. Collier.

"A SOLDIER OF THE FIRST MD."

Accompanying the foregoing letter was the following by Mr. Collier:
"Editor Daily Press:
"Kindly publish this with the statement that our friend has been misinformed regarding the calling out of negro deputies. There was not a negro at Phoebus jail when the difficulty took place in repelling the attack upon the jail, and the sheriff knew nothing concerning the firing at the negro place. No negro was sworn in and no negro was engaged in the fight between the sheriff's posse and the soldiers which took place at the Jail. Colonel Lane saw the sheriff's posse and I am surehe will say there were no negroes in it. No one more deeply regrets the unfortunate friction between the citizens and soddlers than I do, and I sincerely hope that we shall in the future continue the pleasant relations that have heretofore and little, went on, until every vessel in the harbor had paid her respects to Hear Admiral Howell. The spectacle was an imposing one and was the first naval occurrence of the kind to take place in the waters of Hampton Roads. Scores of people from this city went to Old Point thinking that the flaces were being augmented by the arrival of a lurge number of important vessels or that some high naval official had arrived. It has been a long time since a targer crowd was seen on the dock. But all that went were weil paid for their trouble.

Assets Said to Re $11,000: Liabilities $8,000.

Webb & Mears, proprietors of one of the largest dry goods stores on the P. n. insula, assigned hast evening at 5 o'clock for the benefit of their creditors generally, naming Attorney E. E. Montague as trustee. Their place of ousiness is on Queen street, between King and Court. The establishment has been regarded as one of the most carefully conducted in the city.

The liabilities of the concern are said to amount to about $8,000, the creditors being in Hampton, Baltimore and other cities. The assets are reported at $11,000, and in view of the excess of the latter sum over that representing the indebtedness of the firm, it is expected that all obligations will be met dollar, for dollar. The proprietors are esteemed here, and the announcement that they have assigned will be heard with regret by their friends.
